Part II Organizational Action Attach additional statements if needed. See back of form for additional questions.

14 Describe the organizational action and, if applicable, the date of the action or the date against which shareholders' ownership is measured for the action ▶ At the close of the market on September 4, 2024, Allbirds Inc. ("BIRD") effected a 1-for-20 reverse stock split for its Class A and Class B common stock. Pursuant to the reverse stock split, every twenty (20) issued and outstanding common shares of BIRD automatically converted into one (1) common share. A shareholder who would have otherwise been entitled to a fractional share as a result of the reverse stock split received cash in lieu thereof and was deemed for federal income tax purposes to have received and then immediately sold such fractional share for cash. BIRD common shares began trading on a split-adjusted basis when the market opened on September 5, 2024.

In addition, the CUSIP number changed from 01675A109 to 01675A208

15 Describe the quantitative effect of the organizational action on the basis of the security in the hands of a U.S. taxpayer as an adjustment per share or as a percentage of old basis ▶ Shareholders are required to allocate their aggregate tax basis in the existing shares held immediately prior to the stock split among the shares held immediately after the stock split, including fractional shares for which cash was received. Shareholders that have acquired different blocks of common stock at different times or at different prices are urged to consult their own tax advisors regarding the allocation of their aggregated adjusted basis among, and the holding period of, that common stock.

16 Describe the calculation of the change in basis and the data that supports the calculation, such as the market values of securities and the valuation dates ▶ See answer to Line 15.
The basis of the shareholder's total investment (including any fractional shares for which the shareholder received cash in lieu) will remain the same after the reverse stock split, but the basis per share will be impacted. Because no fractional shares were issued, the aggregate tax basis of BIRD common stock held by a shareholder immediately after the reverse stock split could be less than the presplit aggregate tax basis by an amount equal to the aggregate tax basis allocated to the fractional shares, if any.

17 List the applicable Internal Revenue Code section(s) and subsection(s) upon which the tax treatment is based ▶ IRC Sections 354, 358, 368, 1001, and 1012

18 Can any resulting loss be recognized? ▶ The reverse stock split is intended to be treated as a recapitalization for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Therefore, a shareholder will not recognize gain or loss for U.S. federal income tax purposes as a result of the reverse split stock, except in respect of cash payments received in lieu of fractional shares. In general, a shareholder who received cash payments in lieu of fractional shares will recognize a capital gain or loss equal to the difference between the amount of cash received in lieu of the fraction share the portion of the shareholder's tax basis of the pre-split shares that is allocable to the fractionable shares. The deductibility of net capital losses may be subject to limitations. Shareholders should consult their own tax advisor with respect to the tax consequences resulting from the stock split.

19 Provide any other information necessary to implement the adjustment, such as the reportable tax year ▶ _____
The reportable tax year is December 31, 2024.
